Twin cam style billet S&S® Oil filter bracket

S&S oil filter brackets can't help but look great, being machined from solid billet aluminum and polished to a show finish. However, as we all know, looking good isn't everything. These filter brackets have some very useful features. First of all being made of billet aluminum there are no voids or other casting defects in the material to cause leaks. Secondly, the position of the filter has been shifted slightly to give additional clearance between the filter body and the crankcase for easier filter installation and removal. Last, but certainly not least, S&S oil filter brackets are machined to make it easy to install an oil cooler in the pressure side of the system. An oil cooler is especially useful for big inch applications, but is also a great idea when towing a trailer or just riding in hot weather conditions. If the cooler is not needed, simply install the pipe plugs in the threaded holes in the filter bracket, instead of the hose fittings.
